CORN SHUCKING

They don't call them "husking bees" in this section, but the principle of cooperative corn shucking [illegible] and their families help neighbors when there is a job to be done.

One of the unwritten chapters of the war effort in this vicinity has to do with the fine way our farmers have cooperated with one another all through the war period. Facing labor shortages and scarcity of machines and transportation, farmers have been realistic, and have gone to each other's aid. This spirit of cooperation on the farm has worked wonders, and we trust that the attitude behind it will be continued in the years of peace.

Things to Remember

Human nature runs in charted channels. After a great war, we regret to put behind us the worry and cares of the war period, and rush on to new experiences.

Victory is sweet. It is wonderful to welcome the service men home, and we are are thrilled with the prospect of a generation of luxuries and prosperous living.

To many, this represents what the war was fought for.

But somebody must assume responsibility for seeing that certain lessons are not forgotten, and that vicious policy characterizes government. The awful sin of war must not be forgotten. The crimes of bloodthirsty nations must not be forgotten. The dire danger we had to face must not be erased from memory.

It took the United States three years and four months to reach its peak of fighting strength. Nothing but supreme refusal of England and Russia to give in saved us. We cannot again count on having time to mobilize, not in an atomic age. Money won't buy us time.

Our national policy was never so confused as it today. We are all mixed up. The war department wants to combine all national defense under one department, and the navy department opposes,with Congress unable to make up its mind. The air force is dangling, fighting brass hats who still retain jealousy for this great arm of warfare. The navy is cluttered with old-timers who consider the carrier an upstart and the battleship tops. Now "Billy Mitchells" will be crucified.

We have no positive policy in Europe. The leaders who hate the Russians are in the ascendency. All too often in Europe we are forgetting our friends and rushing to embrace late enemies, who play us for suckers. We have a chip on our shoulder in our dealings with the Soviet. The situation cries out for a real leader to sell the nation on a great foreign policy worth of the sacrifices made in the war by the masses of the world's people.

Education in Virginia

From Hanover Herald-Progress

The University of Virginia News Letter in its annual report on Education in Virginia reminds us that Virginia stands still too low in education among the states of the nation. Virginia stands forty-first among the forty-eight states as to current expense per pupil in average daily attendance, thirty-second in average salary paid to teachers, fourty-fourth in per cent of income spent on education.

Other statistics show that Virginia ranks thirty-ninth in total school enrollment in secondary school and twenty-sixth in average daily attendance. Only in average number of days of the school session does the Old Dominion make a respectable showing; in this it ranks sixth.

Virginia has not done as good a job in education as it should or as it could. It is not one of the wealthiest states in the Union; it is far from being one of the poorest. It can afford to spend more on its schools. It must do so.

It is hopeful, however, that in recent years we have shown a tendency to admit our short comings in education and a willingness to do something about it. The Denny report indicated what was to be done; and many of the report's recommendations are in the process of being carried out. We should not let it end with the beginning, however. We should carry it through until Virginia assumes its rightful place among the leading states of the Union.

Aerial Army of Occupation

From Eastern Shore News

The American Army of Occupation consist of a small, hard-hitting force, trained in aerial tactics, centered largely on five principal air centers.

Military experts believe that the best way to occupy the Japanese islands, with the least possible men is to concentrate around a few strategic centers and provide facilities for moving anywhere by air. Naturally, there would be ample fighters and light bombers to support the troop carriers.

It would be several months before the plan can be completed because most of the Japanese airstrips were built for light aircraft and will have to be rebuilt to handle heavier and faster American planes. Just how many aircraft are available in Japan is unknown but the Far East Air Force has something like 4,000 aircraft, of which approximately 1,600 are troop carriers.

Wages, Prices and Controls

From New York Times

The President's talk on wages and prices last week was a well-meant effort to please everybody that ended by pleasing few. There were sentences in it that could be cited by unions to prove that large increases should be granted; sentences that could be cited by employers to show that substantial wage increases could not be granted, at least without substantial price increases; sentences that could be used to prove the need of indefinite prolongation of Government controls, and sentences that could be used to show that the Government ought to get out of the business of trying to control wages and prices as soon as possible. The speech, in short, contained ammunition for both sides because it contained so many assertions not contradict of each other and because it contained both truths and fallacies.

What the President seemed to say on net balance, however, was that prices should be held where they are but that hourly wage rates should be raised substancially. This is a self-contradictory policy that cannot be made to work. The arguments used by the President in support of it are not convincing. What the speech failed sufficiently to take into account was that the wages to war workers to make wartime products paid for by the Government cannot fairly be compared with wages to make peacetime products to be paid for by the people as private consumers. Industry was making peacetime products at peacetime prices and wages when it went into the war. It has emerged from the war with hourly wage rates much higher. Those wage rates can be paid only if there is a corresponding increase in the price of these peacetime products, or if, alternatively, there has been an increase in labor efficiency to compensate for the higher hourly wage.

It has yet to be demonstrated that that increase has taken place. A recent study of twenty-five civilian industries by the Bureau of Labor Statistics showed that there had been very little increase in labor productivity between 1939 and 1944. In nine of these industries output per man-hour had actually declined. As wage increases had taken place in all of the industries, there were only two in which unit labor costs had fallen. In the rest they had increased anywhere from 17 to 69 per cent.

To the People of this Community

You've celebrated V-E Day and V-J Day but how about V-I Day? While you were buying extra bonds to equip and back our fighting forces, you also were beating down the threat of runaway living costs at home. The record of your part in fighting inflation speaks for itself in this report to you by Ted R. Gamble, National Director of the Treasury's War Finance Division. Says he: "Americans invested in war bonds two-thirds of every excess dollar of war wages above the cost of living."

The extra Victory Bonds you buy today are the most important bonds you have ever owned because they battle to preserve the gains you have scored on the home front. Hold the line against inflation! Keep your Victory Bonds. That's self-interest which serves you and your country. Don't fritter away the job you did for yourself in seven terrific years. V-I (Victory over Inflation) Day is HERE and it's up to you to make it a real Victory Bonds.

THE FRUITS OF PUBLIC WORSHIP

LESSON TEXT—Isaiah 6:1-8; Ephesians 5:18-21.

GOLDEN TEXT—Praise ye the Lord: I will praise the Lord with my whole heart, in the assembly of the upright, and in the congregation.—Psalm 111:1.

The center of every community is the house set aside for the worship of God is the gathering place of His people. There they find fellowship as they meet their Lord. He is in the midst exalted and mighty, but ready to enter every humble and contrite heart.

Our lesson shows us how the worship of God brings blessed results as His people meet.

I. Recognizing God's Presence (Isa. 6:1-4).

King Uzziah, who had begun well but had forgotten God, was at the end of his life a leper because of his sin and dying in disgrace. Isaiah, which had known unprecedented prosperity under God's blessing, now hardened its heart nationally against God and was also about to go into eclipse. God needed a man to speak for Him in such an hour, to bring to His people a message of judgment and also of blessed invitation. To prepare that man, the great Isaiah, God gave a remarkable manifestation of His glory and power.

It is essential that the man who speaks for God should first see the Lord high and lifted up and to hear of His holiness and glory. The negative tone of the present-day message, the lack of enthusiasm and interest in holy things, the low standards of personal holiness, the failure to preach boldly the truth regarding God's holy standards are to be explained by the fact that there has been no vision of the eternal holiness and glory of God.

II. Renewing by God's Power (vv. 5-8).

To see the holiness of God is to be immediately conscious of one's own sin and unworthiness. The obvious conclusion which one draws from that fact is that anyone who is proud, who is not concerned about his own sins and the sins of his people, is living far from God and has either never known or has forgotten about His divine holiness.

Isaiah spoke of the pollution of his lips, thereby confessing that his heart was not right. Whereof the heart is full thereof speaketh the mouth, for we read that "out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh" (Matt. 12:34). Remember that even though Isaiah was a believer he recognized the need of cleansing.

"Then" (v. 6)—what an important word! When Isaiah called out in humble confession, "then" he was cleansed. The turning point is right at that place for any life. Only when we come to the place of confession and contrition which Isaiah knew, can we expect the Lord to send the cleansing fire and the enabling power.

Reformation, turning over a new leaf, character development, all commendable in their place, are not sufficient. There must be a divine cleansing of the life if there is to be a commission to service.

III. Realizing God's Will (Eph. 5:15-17).

The ministry of the Church of God can serve no greater purpose than helping men and women to know the will of God. That wisdom (v. 17) comes through the teaching of God's Word and through the ministry of the Holy Spirit, both in the church and in the individual.

The Church (and that means every member) is to recognize that the evil day in which we live is a challenge to holy and effective living. Time is not to be wasted, or casually used. It is to be redeemed—every moment to count for God.

The walk of the believer is to be circumspect, that is, with "painstaking attention to details, under a sense of their importance," not a foolish walk, but a wise one.

IV. Receiving God's Spirit (5:18-21).

God wishes to fill His children with the Holy Spirit in such mighty overwhelming power that they are entirely under His control. Such Spirit-filled believers find their joy and satisfaction in the fellowship of those who sing the praises of God from the heart.

Being a Christian is not a depressing, sorrowful business. It makes you glad. It is God's people who sing and make melody. Some of us who have failed to appreciate this truth should begin now to "get happy" about our religion.

The Holy Spirit leads believers into a life of humility and self-denial (v. 21). Pride and self-exaltation are definitely ruled out.

Do not neglect the note of thanksgiving found in verse 20. The Church of Christ has so infinitely much for which to be thankful that actually ingratitude is a sin. How much blessing is lost because of it! Let us "give thanks always for all things."

AN IMPORTANT DATE FOR THOUSANDS OF ARMY VETERANS NOW IN CIVILIAN LIFE

[illegible]ween now and November 21, [illegible]ands of Army veterans will [illegible]ist in Uncle Sam's new volun[illegible]ime Army. Because [illegible] who have [illegible] from May 12 and November 1 of [illegible] year and reenlist on or before [illegible]ovember 21 will be able to return [illegible]e Army with the same grade as [illegible] held when discharged.

[illegible]tion with six months of satisfac[illegible] service discharged as privates [illegible] on reenlistment before Novem[illegible]1, is given the grade of private [illegible] class.

[illegible]ion now in the Army who apply [illegible] discharge after NOVEMBER 1 [illegible] the purpose of reenlisting in the [illegible]gular Army will also retain their [illegible]ment grades, if they enlist within [illegible] days after discharge and before [illegible]EBRUARY 1, 1946.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE NEW ENLISTMENT PROGRAM

1. Enlistments for 1½, 2 or 3 years are authorized (instead of for men with 6 months' service.)

2. Men reenlisting retain their present grades, if they reenlist within 20 days after discharge and before Feb. 1, 1946. The same applies to men discharged between May 12 and Nov. 1, 1945, who reenlist before Nov. 21, 1945.

3. An increase in the reenlistment bonus to $50 for each year of active service since the bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service.

4. 20% extra pay while overseas.

5. Paid furlough, up to 90 days, depending on length of service, with furlough travel paid to home and return, for men now in the Army who enlist.

6. Mustering-out pay (based upon length of service) to all men who are discharged to reenlist.

7. Option to retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service — or three-quarters after 30 years. (Retirement income in grade of Master Sergeant or Sergeant up to $155.25 per month for life.) All previous active federal military service counts toward retirement.

8. Benefits of GI Bill of Rights.

9. Family allowances for the term of enlistment for dependents of men who enlist or reenlist before July 1, 1946.

10. Choice of branch of service and overseas theater in Air, Ground or Service Forces on 3-year enlistments.

JOB IN THE WORLD"

[illegible] special privileges are typical [illegible] new law recently passed by [illegible]gress. Few opportunities for a [illegible]ime career offer as many attrac[illegible] advantages.

[illegible]n you think of any other job [illegible] would give you good pay, your [illegible] clothing, quarters, free med[illegible]al and dental care, world-wide [illegible]vel, 30 days' furlough every year, [illegible]ucation and training in any of [illegible] 200 skills or trades, and [illegible]vide you to retire with a life in[illegible]surance line after 20 years' service?

There isn't any! That's why a job in the Regular Army has been called "The Best Job in the World."
